PROGRAM EXPECTATIONS

Students are expected to behave appropriately while at the Return To School Centre. Participation in the program is reliant upon the student's willingness to engage in planned activities.

The program gives students the opportunity to develop skills to manage their behaviour. Parents and the student's home school will be informed when a student experiences sustained difficulty in achieving this goal.

Students will be working on a study program provided by their home school. If the home school has sent the work package home with your child, he or she will need to bring this to the program.

There will also be time allocated each day for students to participate in the "Reflection & Re-Focus" sessions which will explore themes around:

- Taking responsibility for own actions and identifying solutions to problems; and
- Planning for better choices and building positive relationships.
